Temptation

Then Jesus was led up by the Spirit into the wilderness to be tempted by the devil. He fasted forty days and forty nights, and afterwards he was famished. (Matthew 4:1-2)

It begins with temptation. It always has. That is the human condition from the Garden of Eden on. We know temptation like the back of our hand. The cookie jar that was off-limits may be one of our earliest memories. Yet, it is difficult for us to accept the temptations of Jesus as being anything like ours. That is not actually humble on our part; it simply makes less of him.

The temptations of Jesus out in the wilderness seem so grand compared to our often trivial wanderings. They do seem beyond our imaginations. The devil asked him to change stones into bread; a miracle for no good reason. Next, he was asked to jump off the pinnacle of the temple; a cheap magic trick to show off his immortality. Finally, he was shown the kingdoms of the world and offered them if he would just worship the devil; an offering of only false ambition. And Jesus turned him down.

We need to know that the temptations offered Jesus were real to him. Real temptations. Real decisions to be made. Real consequences to live with. Tempted just like human beings have always been tempted; just like we are.

"Just like we are" is the operative phrase. Because, underneath each of the temptations offered to Jesus in the wilderness was one basic temptation. It was the elemental temptation to deny who he was and how he was going to be. To follow any other path would be to deny his mission, his vocation, his being. If the time in the wilderness was supposed to teach him anything, it must have taught him that. And as his ministry took form, there were always other voices asking him to be somebody else. Asking him to be their idea of the Messiah. Asking him to sound and act more like a Savior they would easily recognize. Asking him to be more of a healer and miracle worker, a more traditional kind of teacher, a more visible hero. And Jesus turned them down.

Lent can be just forty days and nights of trivial temptations about things that don't really matter all that much. Or it can be a creative wilderness time to ask ourselves some deeper questions. You see, we really do share the elemental temptation of Jesus. Our temptation is always to deny who we are, and how we are supposed to be, and instead, keep trying to become 'someone else' for all the 'someone else's' out there in the world. We are always tempted to quit being who we are instead of discovering the person God has always wanted us to be...ourselves.

Being ourselves in a world that constantly asks us to be someone else is the most difficult task we can have in life, and it is a task that never goes away. It doesn't mean that we don't need to try to improve. People do get better. People do put aside destructive ways of behaving. It just means that we don't need to try to become another person in order to be loved by God. That is hard enough for us to believe. But it is the Gospel truth.

Being yourself is hard work. It is tiring work. But it is interesting to note that when Jesus himself had finished his time in the wilderness, angels came and took care of him. Angels are waiting to care for us too in the midst of our temptations. But we have to risk some wilderness time first in order for that to happen. (Borrowed from Anglican Digest Lent, 2006- Author The Rev. Jeffrey H. Walker, Christ Church Greenwich, Greenwich, Connecticut)

A Stewardship Thought for the Week

Yesterday I was thinking of some of my happiest times...filled with pure joy, rich experience; the time of spiritual fulfillment. Many are associated with giving gifts to family & friends; unexpected little things. Preparing to give to the Lord's business is still a thrill too...and it is more...

In the process of facing spiritual opportunity, we meet a strong personal need.

Church Chuckle

A minister, looking up from the sermon he was reading, was horrified to see his young son in the gallery, pelting the congregation with candies.

Before he could say anything, the boy called out: "You keep talking, Dad. I'll keep the awake!"

Who is the greatest financier in the Bible?

NOAH – He was floating while everyone else was in liquidation.

MILESTONES

If anyone knows of someone in the Parish celebrating a milestone in their lives, please contact the Church Office.

Just a reminder to Parishioners who make their church contributions through post-dated cheques, that this may need to be taken care of at this time. Post-dated cheques may be dropped off at the office or placed in the offertory plate. Thank you.

There are a few packages of the 2015 Church Envelopes left in the foyer. If anyone could deliver these, it would be most appreciated.

Preauthorized Payment (e-Giving) of Church Offerings can now be offered to our parishioners. Many people find that this is a safe and convenient way to make their offerings and, if you are interested, please complete the form which you will find in the pamphlet rack in the foyer.

For those who are giving by Pre – Authorized (e-Giving), there will be plastic cards available in the foyer which read "Giving Electronically to the Anglican Parish of St. Philip". We want our people to think about giving to the church by this method.

Memorial Request

Recently, we installed projectors and screens in the Chancellery. Because of the amount of light coming through the window at the back of the church, we considered blinds but instead would like to go with stained glass.

If anyone would like to donate the stained glass as a memorial for a departed loved one, we have been given a quote of $3,450.00 plus installation plus H.S.T. This could be an individual donation or a group of families. Please give this your prayerful consideration.

Update - We have begun receiving donations toward the stained glass window. If you are interested in making a donation, now is the time.

Dismissal to be sung at the end of the service:

Go now in peace, never be afraid. God will go with you each hour of every day.

Go now in faith, steadfast strong and true. Know he will guide you in all you do.

Go now in love and show you believe. Reach out to others so all the world can see. God will be there, watching from above.

Go now in peace, in faith and in love.

The Bulletin today is given to the Glory of God and in loving and precious memory of:

Chaplaincy Services at Hospitals in St. John's

When you are being admitted to a hospital in St. John's, you should be asked, "While you are admitted to hospital, would you like to have a visit from a chaplain or pastoral care worker?" Be sure to say "Yes" if you would like a pastoral visit. You will then be asked to identify your religion, and your name will be added to the chaplain's visitation list, and you will then receive a visit from the denominational chaplain within a day or two.

Also, the Anglican, Roman Catholic, Salvation Army and United Church Chaplaincy Teams are continuing a pilot project to assess ways to share resources. The four denominations will share First-call Chaplain responsibilities at the hospitals in St. John's. This means that each night one chaplain will receive all after-hours calls (5:00 pm to 8:00 am). That First-call Chaplain will determine if the chaplain from the patient's own denomination is needed to provide particular services or supports (anointing/ communion). Patients and families can request their denominational chaplain, if they so wish. The denominational chaplains will follow up with patients seen by the First-call Chaplain.

Please call your Parish Priest as well.

If any members of our congregation have a new e-mail address or changed his/her e-mail address, would you kindly e-mail us your new address.

Maintenance Fund – I do ask you to give regularly to this fund. In the spring, major work around the windows of this building will be required. Repairs are needed immediately to the main door of our church. Please continue to use your "Pink Envelope" to contribute to this Fund so when the time comes for repairs there will be funds available.

MEMORIAL BULLETIN: We encourage you to donate the weekly bulletin as a memorial to a departed loved one. The envelopes and information are available from the pamphlet rack in the foyer.

Parish Hall Rentals: The Parish Centre is available to members of the congregation and the public to rent for birthdays, weddings and anniversaries. Please consider renting the hall for your next important event. Any person want to rent the parish hall can call the church office at 895-0715.

If you can help with sorting the recyclables on Monday or Tuesday nights please call John Parrell. The ACM could really use your help.
